MISSION STATEMENT

CSNY's speech and language treatment goals are developed and implemented based on your child's needs.

Our certified and licensed speech-language pathologists provide individual and group therapy at our office or, if arranged, in the child's natural communication environment (i.e. school, home, or daycare).

Parental/Caregiver involvement is essential for a child's communication success and are encouraged to observe therapy sessions and participate in the learning process.

- Training for educators, parents/caregivers and other professionals on the latest therapeutic techniques, tools and concepts.

P.R.O.M.P.T THERAPY

(Prompts for Restructuring Oral Muscular Phonetic Targets)

- Our PROMPT trained speech-language pathologists help to manually guide articulators (jaws, face, and mouth) to teach the child how to precisely produce sounds in words and words in sentences.
- The clinician uses her hands to cue and stimulate articulatory movement and, at the same time, helps the child eliminate any unnecessary movement.
- PROMPT addresses cognitive, social, pragmatic, behavioral, sensory-motor, and physical domains, using the child's strengths to maximize his/her potential for communication.
